Adult-Use Conditional Cultivator and Conditional Processor Pre-Approval for Line Testing

Cannabis line testing is a temporary program designed to allow Adult-Use Conditional Cultivators (AUCC) and Adult-Use Conditional Processor (AUCP) licensees the opportunity to have multiple consistently processed lots of finished cannabis products that meet certain prerequisites to be tested at once. Please refer to the Cannabis Line Testing Guidance for additional information. This program will remain in effect unless otherwise determined by the Office.

An adult-use cannabis licensee must be pre-approved by the Office of Cannabis Management (OCM) to submit a cannabis line of samples to a permitted cannabis laboratory for testing. Please complete this form for each cannabis line you would like to submit for laboratory testing. OCM will review the information submitted below and provide prior written approval to the licensee or request additional information from the licensee. Scheduling of line testing can be conducted with the laboratory after you receive written approval from OCM.

Sampling and transportation by a licensee will be a temporary approval and will expire when cannabis laboratories have received approval by OCM to perform sampling and transportation, or OCM has approved cannabis laboratory sampling firms to perform sample collection and transportation.
